

FORMER POLICE CHIEF SLAIN BY FATHER-IN-LAW FOLLOWING ATTACK ON WIFE AT STONE MOUNTAIN

Self-Confessed Slayer of Dorsey Is Arrested

BUNCO SYNDICATE FIGURES IN STORY TOLD BY PRISONER

Governor Walker Notified of the Arrest in Danville, Va., of O. E. Burnett and of His Confession.

TAXI DRIVER KNEW TOO MUCH, HE SAYS

Several Suspects Have Been Jailed in Past, But Dorsey Murder Mystery Is Still Unsolved.

Linking one of Atlanta's deepest murder mysteries with the local activities of Floyd P. Woodward, fugitive Atlanta gambling chieftain, news was received here Monday that O. E. Burnett, held by the police at Danville, Va., has confessed to slaying Charlie Dorsey, taxicab driver, on the night of February 28, 1921.

Burnett claims to have killed Dorsey because Dorsey "knew too much" about the killing of Ed Mills, for whose murder Floyd Woodward is under indictment, dispatches stated.

The prisoner was taken from Lynchburg to Danville Sunday on a forged charge and is said to have given a complete confession of the local killing to authorities there.

Atlanta officers will be sent to Danville at once prepared to bring Burnett here, it was learned at the court-house. Burnett is said to have expressed his willingness to waive extradition.

Pierced with bullets, the body of Charlie Dorsey, driver for the Bryant Taxicab company, was found in his automobile on South Boulevard, near the federal prison, shortly after day-break on the morning of March 1, 1921, during the progress of the noted bunco investigation here.

There were two bullet wounds. One ball had entered the back of his head, the other beneath the chin.

At a coroner's inquest it was shown that Dorsey had left his taxi stand to answer a call at 7 o'clock on the evening of February 28. The call had been given over the telephone in a masculine voice, whose owner said he was at 139 Cherokee avenue, and that he would meet the taxicab at Glenn street.

No Tangible Clues.

It was established through various witnesses that after the machine picked up a man at Cherokee avenue and Glenn street, at least one other passenger, a woman, was taken in. Later, on the same night, a car supposed to have been Dorsey's, was seen parked on South Boulevard at a late hour.

No tangible clues were found at the scene. Dorsey was popular among his associates, and officers were at a loss for a motive.

Although local investigators have frequently advanced the theory that Dorsey was slain by persons who feared that he would reveal information in his possession concerning Floyd Woodward and his associates, nothing

CHILEAN SENATOR SLAYS COLLEAGUE, COMMITTS SUICIDE

Santiago, Chile, September 10.—Chile has been stirred by a remarkable murder and suicide involving two of the most prominent statesmen of the nation.

Following an election dispute Monday, Deputy Correat Ramirez shot Senator Torresalba in a committee room in the house of congress, and then committed suicide.

Both were members of the democratic party.

LEWIS SUPPORTS PINCHOT EFFORT TO HOLD PRICES

Mine Union Leader Addresses President Coolidge as Ally to Block Gouging.

Philadelphia, September 10.—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine workers today sent a letter to President Coolidge supporting the suggestion of Governor Pinchot that the interstate commerce commission investigate anthracite coal freight rates.

The governor, Mr. Lewis said, has placed his finger with unerring precision upon the method by which the consumers of anthracite may be given substantial relief from present excessive prices and the possibility of a future increase.

Mr. Lewis' letter is as follows: "My dear Mr. President: "Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania with unerring precision has placed his finger upon the method by which the consumers of anthracite may be given substantial relief from present excessive prices and the possibility of a future increase. The existing freight rates upon anthracite to tide water and New England points are excessive, unjustified and indefensible. The cost of transport per ton mile as compared with bituminous substantiates this judgment.

"The United Mine Workers have long contended for a revision of these rates, and the public is to be congratulated that such a powerful influence as Governor Pinchot has pointed the way to immediate relief in this major problem. If the administrative agencies of the federal government will cooperate with this proposal, its success will be insured and relief will be given to millions of householders and business interests in anthracite consuming territories.

"Governor Pinchot's suggestion that the United States coal commission immediately make public its findings upon anthracite profits in production and wholesale and retail distribution is commendable. It is unfortunate,

ITALIAN TROOPS LAND ON LEROS; ENTRENCH CORFU

Albania Advises Greece to Arrest Assassins, Saying They Are All Known.

OFFERS TO CROSS BORDER AND DO IT

Roman Officer Thrashes Insulter in Restaurant Scuffle in the Greek Capital.

BY FRANCISCO REA.

Rome, September 10.—A landing party from the Italian destroyer "Pepe" has occupied the Greek island of Leros without resistance.

The Corfu correspondent of the "Tribuna" reports that the British consul at Piræas has arrived at Corfu to investigate circumstances surrounding the landing of Italian troops.

Meanwhile, despite new seizures, the situation remains calm. An official statement has been issued by the Italian government, denying that the population of Patras attacked the Italian consulate there. The statement declares that relations between Greeks and Italians at Patras are "cordial."

The Albanian government has replied to the Greek ultimatum demanding the surrender of the slayers of the Italian mission by saying that if the Greek government does not arrest the culprits, Albanians will cross the border and arrest them, as all are known in Albania.

Under-Secretary Lissia has inspected the occupied towns, and has issued an order congratulating the Italian troops on their high morale.

An unpleasant incident is reported from Athens. The Italian military attaché, Lieutenant Perrone, and two other Italian officers were dining in an exclusive restaurant when they overheard a Greek making offensive remarks against Italy. Perrone demanded an explanation, which was refused. The Italian officer administered a sound thrashing to the Greek, and another Greek threw a wine bottle in the melee which followed. The Italian naval attaché flogged the second aggressor with a stick, and the Italians then left unmolested.

Minister Montagna, Italian representative in Athens, protested immediately to the Greek foreign office, and the Greek foreign minister expressed regret for the incident.

ITALY MAKES CORFU INTO FORTRESS.

Athens, September 10.—Corfu is an Italian fortress, according to Greeks arriving here from the Adriatic island.

They declare that the Italian army is fortifying the coast, and daily landing quantities of munitions. According to reports in Corfu, an Italian submarine base has been established on the island of Paxos.

An official of the Italian ministry of finance has arrived to make an "economic organization" of the occupied zone.

GREECE ACCEPTS CONDITIONS MADE.

Athens, September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Greece accepts the conditions laid down by the inter-allied council of ambassadors for settlement of the Greco-Italian dispute and has so informed the council in a note dispatched to Paris.

Foreign Minister Alexandris said that the Greek communication left to the ambassadors the determination of such details as the dates for the military salute and the funeral services for the victims of the Janina massacre. He asserts the council's decision represents a victory for Greek diplomacy.

AMBASSADORS' PROBE OF MURDERS BEGINS.

Paris, September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The inter-allied council of ambassadors took up this afternoon in detail the organization of the inquiry into the assassination of Italian Commissioner Tellini and his associates of the Albanian border commission, the case of the present disturbed Italo-Greek relations. The council also considered the dates for the carrying out of the different acts required of Greece in satisfaction of the Italian demands. The reply to Greece's acceptance giving these details and making it clear that the execution of Corfu will follow the complete execution of the meas-

ATLANTA WOMEN Ready for Drive For Jap Relief

Forces Are Already Mobilized for Collecting Funds Tomorrow.

With several thousand dollars already in hand towards Atlanta's quota of $12,000 for Japanese relief, federated club women expect to carry this city "over the top" Wednesday when they conduct an all-day street canvass for funds.

The fund got a good start Sunday when appeals were made in the majority of pulpits of Atlanta for aid of the sufferers. While full returns have not been announced, it was stated Monday at a meeting of the Methodist ministers that one half the churches of that one denomination had subscribed $1,500.

The drive committee appointed by Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, reports splendid cooperation on part of all the members.

Mrs. Spencer Atkinson heads the drive committee and has for vice chairmen, Mrs. B. M. Boykin and Mrs. Rufus Barnett, both of whom are known to every Atlantian through their American Legion activities as well as through many other channels.

Serving with the chairman and vice chairman on the committee of arrangements are Mrs. R. K. Rambo, vice president of the city federation; Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, past president of the city federation and a member of the executive board of the Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross; Mrs. H. M. Nichols, Mrs. Cleve Webb, Mrs. McCord Roberts, Mrs. H. M. Nichols and Mrs. Cleve

$800,000 Bachelors' Apartment Club Will Be Erected on Peachtree Street

Architects' drawing of the $800,000 bachelors' apartment club to be built at 583 Peachtree street, adjoining the Georgian Terrace hotel, by a syndicate of local capitalists who have just leased the site from the Whitehead Realty company for 51 years, the aggregate rental being $400,000. Jesse Draper handled the lease. Plans for the building were completed Monday by R. S. Pringle and Francis P. Smith, the architects.

GERMANY ORDERS RUHR RESISTANCE STOPPED AT ONCE

Direct Negotiations Between Berlin and Paris Imminent, According to Reports.

London, September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The populations in the occupied areas of Germany have been ordered to discontinue their passive resistance to the French and Belgian authorities, according to the Central News correspondent in Berlin.

"I learn," the correspondent telegraphs, "that the German capitalists have decided to send a representative to Paris with the object of ascertaining to what extent France is prepared to make concessions to Germany."

"Direct negotiations between the two governments are believed in political circles here (in Berlin) to be imminent."

SAYS GERMANY MUST MAKE AGREEMENT.

Berlin, September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany must reach an understanding with France within a very short time, otherwise the whole of central Europe will be endangered, said Wilhelm Sollmann, minister of the interior, in explaining the government's policy to a deputation of the International Woman's League for Peace and Liberty.

"We are ready to enter into any agreement with the entente, especially with France, which gives security that the Ruhr and Rhineland territories will shortly again be under full control of the German authorities," the minister said.

"We are ready for great economic sacrifices, but will not agree to conditions which mean the dismemberment of the reich."

EXPECTED BREAK IN RESISTANCE.

Paris, September 10.—The news from Berlin of the declarations made by Minister of the Interior Sollmann, stated to be with the approval of Chancellor Stresemann, which was Apartment Club Features Successful in Many Cities Is Innovation in Atlanta.

A handsome eight-story apartment house for men, in conjunction with which will be operated every feature of an exclusive bachelors' club, will be erected on Peachtree street frontage adjacent to the Georgian Terrace hotel at an approximate cost of $800,000, it was definitely learned Monday.

Through the Jesse Draper agency, the Whitehead Realty company, owner, has leased the site for 51 years, at an aggregate rental of $400,000 to a syndicate of Atlanta capitalists whose names for the present are withheld, and who have formed a corporation which will own the structure.

Pringle & Smith, architects, have just completed plans for the apartment house, and the construction contract will be awarded within a few days. Work of raising the present dwelling occupying the site and of actual work on the building will then begin, with a view to occupancy during the latter part of next year.

100 Feet on Peachtree.

The lot fronts 100 feet on Peachtree street and runs back to a depth of 200 feet. It is known as 583 Peachtree street.

Plans prepared by Architects R. S. Pringle and Francis P. Smith call for an eight-story building in the Adam style. The exterior will be built of red-brown brick, trimmed with limestone.

No men's apartment house in the country will be handsomer in architecture or more complete in appointments and furnishings, according to the builders.

The club features, which will include a spacious lounge room, reading and writing room, swimming pool and showers, will make the apartments extremely desirable.

A description of the unique apartment-club was given by the architects as follows: "On the first floor is the entrance lobby. Opening from it on one side is a ladies' reception room. On the opposite side are the apartment offices. Beyond these are the elevators and stairways.

"A small private dining room and checkroom opens from a vestibule which leads directly to the main dining room, the latter being the largest room in the building, measuring 52 by 66 feet.

Meals on Terraces.

"Broad French windows on each side of the dining room open on

KLAN ORGANIZER SEIZED IN MACON FLOGGING PROBE

J. P. Durkee Is Arrested as "Big Man" of Recent Whippings—Trial of Accused Delayed.

Macon, Ga., September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—J. P. Durkee, organizer of the Ku Klux Klan in Macon, was arrested here tonight on two warrants charging him with rioting and assault and battery in connection with the Macon flogging cases.

Durkee is charged with participating in the flogging of R. F. Mills, a local chiropractor. His bond was fixed at $5,000.

Nine Now Held.

Durkee's arrest is the ninth in the cleanup campaign being conducted here by city and county officials after a series of floggings that has had the city and county in a turmoil for months. The cases of eight other men accused in the cases are already on the docket of the city court, seven of them being on tomorrow's docket and the eighth being set for next Monday.

City Solicitor Ray W. Moore, commenting tonight on the arrest of Durkee, charged that the Klan organizer was the "big man" of the Macon floggings.

Refuses to Comment.

Durkee was sitting in the office of Sheriff J. R. Hicks awaiting further developments in the flogging cases when he was arrested. Since the roundup of alleged floggers began, Durkee has frequently consulted with officers, it was said, and spent much time in the office of the sheriff.

His only statement when arrested was "well I'll declare." Beyond this he refused to talk.

Durkee was released on $5,000 bond, signed by Dr. J. H. Heard.

Delphy Warns by Siren as Jagged Rocks Crash Bottom—Saves 12 Other Destroyers From Fate.

Santa Barbara, Calif., September 10.—The death list in the disaster which sent seven naval destroyers crashing on the rocks of Point Honda, 75 miles north of here, Saturday night, had increased to 20 tonight, according to a message from a correspondent of the Santa Barbara Morning Press.

San Diego, Calif., September 10.—Orders given in the belief that the eleventh destroyer squadron had passed Point Arguello, the north entrance to the Santa Barbara channel, caused the change of course that piled seven destroyers on the rocks at Honda with the probable loss of 23 men, it was revealed today when the crews of the wrecked ships reached San Diego.

Los Angeles, Cal., September 10.—Treacher of the sea and air were main factors in the wreck of seven of Uncle Sam's sea hornets, destroyers of the Pacific fleet, which pitched, at 20 knots an hour, onto the jagged rocks of La Honda 75 miles north of Santa Barbara Saturday night, according to the belief of naval experts here. Twenty-two lives and seven warships perished.

Four hours previously the Pacific mail liner Cuba had piled up on San Miguel island 25 miles away, and the air filled with radio messages telling of her plight and directing the work of rescue.

In the meantime destroyer squadron 11 of the fleet was cruising south in a heavy fog, 10 clean out, craft, breasting a choppy sea in column formation and steering behind their leader, the Delphy by dead reckoning and wireless compass directions from shore.

The shore directions are said to have become garbled, with the flood of air messages on the Cuba wreck and the speedy destroyer squadron was left to the fog—and the sea.

Then the evil genius of the latter added its quota to the sea fighters'.

Wife Slayer Is Tear Gas Victim After Gun Fight

Moonshine-Crazy Husband Shoots Mother-in-Law and Two Cops.

Belleville, Ill., September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Walter C. Cochran, 40 years old, said to be crazed as a result of drinking moonshine whiskey, held two score police officers and deputy sheriffs at bay for four hours this afternoon while barricading himself in his home here after fatally shooting his wife and seriously wounding his mother-in-law and two officers.

He finally was captured after a barrage of riot guns was directed against the house and a dozen tear bombs were thrown inside by police officers from St. Louis, who were summoned to the aid of the local department.

During the exchange of shots, the wife, Mrs. Mamie Cochran, 32, lay in the yard of the house, dying from wounds in the abdomen and neck.

The wounded are Mrs. Emily Hall, 70 years old, the mother-in-law, who is not expected to recover; George F. Schilling, 48, patrolman, and A. Petri, deputy sheriff, both of whom are said to be in a critical condition. Mrs. Hall resided with the couple.

Cochran closeted himself in the house after he had shot the two women. The wife ran into the yard and dropped, unconscious. The mother-in-law attempted to run across the street but fell just before she reached the opposite curb.

Rescuer Shot Down.

Schilling, whose home is near that of Cochran, attempted to enter the

HER FATHER SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE, STATES DAUGHTER

J. Monroe Gresham Says W. C. Campbell, Son-in- Law, Was Advancing on Him With Stick.

WOMAN TELLS STORY OF ABUSE BY HUSBAND

Campbell Was Serving Sentence for Killing When Marriage Took Place, Officers Said.

W. C. Campbell 53 years old, a farmer living near Stone Mountain, and at one time chief of police of Phenix City, Ala., was shot and instantly killed by his father-in-law, J. Monroe Gresham, about 8 o'clock Monday night, the tragedy being precipitated by an attack made by Campbell upon his wife and by alleged threats against the life of his mother-in-law, who is said to have intervened in an effort to protect her daughter. The slayer is held in DeKalb county jail on a charge of murder.

Claims Self-Defense.

Gresham declares he shot in self-defense, saying that when he remonstrated with his son-in-law, Campbell advanced upon him with a heavy stick.

He fired a 12-gauge shotgun at Campbell's head at a distance of not more than six or eight feet. One side of the victim's head was literally torn off. Bullet wounds, it is said, were found in his left hand. It was supposed that Campbell had thrown his hand up when the gun was discharged.

DeKalb county authorities say that Campbell was at one time chief of police in Phenix City, and that he and Mrs. Campbell were married while he was serving a term in prison following a trial on the charge of murder. Shortly afterwards he received a pardon.

Will Employ Counsel.

Gresham, who is 68 years old, refused to discuss the killing in detail, saying that he would postpone any statements until he had employed counsel for his defense. He stated, however, that Campbell had frequently mistreated his daughter and that he had heard her scream from the front porch of his home, which is a few hundred yards from that of Campbell.

Immediately following the shooting the slayer went back to his home leaving word that he could be found there when officers arrived. Justice of Peace J. D. McCurdy, of Stone Mountain, took him into custody, and Chief of Police W. M. Lankford removed Gresham to the DeKalb county jail.

The little home, which rests almost a hundred yards back from the highway, depicted a tragic scene Monday night. A red pool of blood marked the spot where Campbell had fallen and his footsteps where he had staggered.

21 Agencies Join Community Chest Collection Plan

Twenty-one social and welfare agencies of Atlanta, dependent upon public subscriptions for maintenance, have affiliated with the local community chest plan which is formulating an intensive campaign for funds in November, Roy L. Gates, director of the campaign, announced Monday.

The latest of Atlanta's welfare agencies to join in the chest movement was the Home for Incurables, the board of directors unanimously voting Monday to affiliate. It is the plan of the committee in charge to conduct a subscription campaign of approximately $750,000 to be divided among the organizations engaged in relief work in Atlanta, thus eliminating the necessity of each body conducting its own drive for funds.

An investigation conducted under the leadership of James B. Hoxsey, has been engaged for the last three months in studying local needs and plans for financing charitable institutions. The committee is composed of Met R. Wilkinson, Robert L. Foreman, Sr., Frederick J. Paxon, J. K. Orr, T. K. Glenn, Rabbi David Marx, Hugh M. Willett, Thomas K. Daniel, W. W. Orr and Mr. Hoxsey.

Social agencies which have formally entered the community chest organization represent a wide gamut of children's work, family service and relief, care for women and girls, character formation organization for adolescent children, baby welfare organizations and societies for the promotion of better health and the prevention of sickness are included.

Funeral services for James S. Akers, 38, who died Monday morning at his residence, 626 Piedmont avenue, will be held from the residence at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Dr. B. R. Lacy, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be at West View.

For more than 20 years Mr. Akers has been treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the Georgia School of Technology. About twenty years ago he resigned that position and withdrew from public life. During his long business career in Atlanta he was connected with the firm of E. M. Innan & Company, Innan, Akers & Innan and others.

He was a devout member of Central Presbyterian church and was a man of marked religious convictions, taking part in all activities of the church.

He was born in Alabama February 17, 1885, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Akers. He was educated at Grange and later to Atlanta, and at the age of 5 he entered the Atlanta public schools. During the latter part of the reconstruction period he was identified with the public and business life of Atlanta.

He leaves his widow and three children, Mrs. Lucy Akers Taylor and Mrs. Isabelle Akers, Atlanta, and Mrs. Charles Hardy Fair, of Greenville, S. C. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. P. McDonald, Mrs. Jennie Bloodworth and Mrs. W. K. Holmes, all of Atlanta, and a brother, P. M. Akers, of Atlanta.

For more than 20 years Mr. Akers has been treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the Georgia School of Technology. About twenty years ago he resigned that position and withdrew from public life. During his long business career in Atlanta he was connected with the firm of E. M. Innan & Company, Innan, Akers & Innan and others.

He was a devout member of Central Presbyterian church and was a man of marked religious convictions, taking part in all activities of the church.

He was born in Alabama February 17, 1885, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Akers. He was educated at Grange and later to Atlanta, and at the age of 5 he entered the Atlanta public schools. During the latter part of the reconstruction period he was identified with the public and business life of Atlanta.

He leaves his widow and three children, Mrs. Lucy Akers Taylor and Mrs. Isabelle Akers, Atlanta, and Mrs. Charles Hardy Fair, of Greenville, S. C. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. P. McDonald, Mrs. Jennie Bloodworth and Mrs. W. K. Holmes, all of Atlanta, and a brother, P. M. Akers, of Atlanta.

COURTLAND EXTENSION PROPOSAL IS HEARD

Extension of Courtland street from North avenue to its present northern terminus, in the case of the extension, was taken under advisement by the city planning commission at its session Monday afternoon.

The extension was asked by George Boynton, former councilman, and Edmund W. Martin, member of the old hospital board, representing property owners who would be affected. They said the project would cost not less than $75,000 but that the property owners could be induced to pay it.

Major V. A. expressed unqualified approval of the project, asserting that extension and repaving of Courtland would mean another cross street for the city, thus eliminating the necessity of each body conducting its own drive for funds.

An investigation conducted under the leadership of James B. Hoxsey, has been engaged for the last three months in studying local needs and plans for financing charitable institutions. The committee is composed of Met R. Wilkinson, Robert L. Foreman, Sr., Frederick J. Paxon, J. K. Orr, T. K. Glenn, Rabbi David Marx, Hugh M. Willett, Thomas K. Daniel, W. W. Orr and Mr. Hoxsey.

Social agencies which have formally entered the community chest organization represent a wide gamut of children's work, family service and relief, care for women and girls, character formation organization for adolescent children, baby welfare organizations and societies for the promotion of better health and the prevention of sickness are included.

Funeral services for James S. Akers, 38, who died Monday morning at his residence, 626 Piedmont avenue, will be held from the residence at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Dr. B. R. Lacy, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be at West View.

ITALIAN TROOPS LAND ON LEROS

ures demanded of Greece will be drawn up at another meeting of the ambassadors.

LEAGUE WISHES ITALY WOULD LEAVE CORFU.

Geneva, September 10.—By the Associated Press.—"Watchful waiting for the moment at least," was counsel tonight to be policy of the council of the league of nations regarding the Greece-Italian conflict. This was deduced from the publication of a telegram, which Viscount Ishii, as president of the council, sent to the council of ambassadors saying that the council of the league shared with the ambassadors in anxiously hoping to see the dispute settled as soon as possible.

The message voiced the council's happiness forward by it to the Paris body were useful, and asked to be kept informed on any results of the decision taken and any discussions which might still take place.

This telegram, communicated to all the delegates to the assembly here, was interpreted as confirming the impasse which had been reached for the moment the assembly would content itself with a waiting development in the Greece-Italian controversy before taking further action.

This attitude of watchful waiting was said to apply particularly to the evacuation of Corfu, with regard to the evacuation of Corfu.

Greek Deposit Ready.

The general sentiment at Geneva is that the entire dispute would be immensely clarified if the Italian government would issue an order immediately for the withdrawal of the troops from Corfu and the restoration of the other islands to Greece.

The league leaders are anxious that evacuation should take place before any debate on the competency of the league is launched at the meetings of the assembly, the idea being still further to help in the actual settlement of the crisis which has caused such a profound disturbance in Europe.

They believe that world public opinion as voiced by the national representatives at Geneva, has alone made prompt progress on the Greece-Italian dispute possible.

A special meeting of the council of the league of nations convoked at 6 o'clock tonight. On its adjournment, members declined to discuss the deliberations which were private. M. Politis of Greece, was present on invitation, and he announced afterward that he had merely officially formed the council of the league's acceptance of the terms of settlement. He added that the guarantee fund of 50,000,000 lire would be deposited in the Swiss bank tomorrow.

house when he heard the shooting but was shot down by Cochran, Deputy Petri, arriving a few minutes later with a posse, was shot as he tried to reach the wounded officer, but was able to run for shelter.

Several other officers rescued Shilling while a barrage from revolvers and shot guns was directed at all windows.

Attempts at strategy failed in efforts by police to reach the dying wife, however. Every time any one made an attempt to go near her, Cochran would fire a rapid succession of shots. He fired about seventy shots in all, but never exposed himself to the bullets of police besieging the house.

Approximately 1,000 residents, crouched behind corners of buildings or in other places of concealment, viewed the fight.

Cochran escaped serious injury, although he was beaten by officers, who cornered him in the kitchen after they had filled the house with fumes from tear bombs.

The crowd attempted to take him away from the officers as they brought him out of the house, but a tear gas bomb was exploded the crowd dispersing and precluding mob violence.

HUSBAND REFUSED TO LET HER SEE FRIENDS, SAYS WIFE

Mrs. Mary Virginia Churchill, who claims that for nearly fifteen years her husband has kept her a virtual prisoner in their home at 314 Central avenue, is now seeking freedom from the divorce court. Mrs. Churchill says her husband, Columbus Grove Churchill, refused to allow her to see relatives or friends and that after the first year of their married life, her matrimonial experience has been most unhappy.

FLEET IMPALED BY TRAITOR SEA

dilemma and cross currents swept the flotilla out of its course to find seven of the leading vessels onto the La Honda cliffs, an estimated twenty miles from the ocean lane they believed they were following.

Bottoms Become Sieves

The Delphy crashed first and within a few moments six of her sisters, Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, Lee and Nicholas, were impaled with her on the rocks. A heavy surf swung them back and forth against the reefs, pounding the frail sides of the navy's speed boats into sieves; the Young turned over and imprisoned 19 of her crew below decks in berths that became their tombs. Three of the Delphy's company also went to graves while three more of their shipmates went adrift on a raft. Their fate still is in doubt.

The Woodbury rammed another crag and listed heavily. The Fuller joined her on the seaward side of the same rocks. The Lee grounded close in shore and the Nicholas came to her end a few yards farther out with her bow pointed landward.

As the Delphy touched bottom and a moment later crashed, her shrill siren split the fog in warning to the remainder of the squadron. The whistle probably saved eleven of the flotilla but six of the leaders of the column behind the Delphy were too close to avail themselves of the warning and plunged forward to the doom. The other destroyer of the flotilla had taken a different course.

Life Line Carried to Shore. With the grounding of the craft their fires were banked, searchlights were dark and the only illumination of their tilted decks were occasional hand flash lights.

Chief Electrician Erckenberg of the Delphy swam forty feet to the nearest rock with a life line and his shipmates came along it hand over hand. Erckenberg again jumped into the boiling sea and carried the line ashore. Chief Boatwain's Mate Peterson, of the Young duplicated the electrician's feat. Peterson carried a line from his vessel to the Chauncey and gave his comrades a slim path of safety from their overturned ship.

The crews of the Woodbury and Fuller, speared on two sides by the same cluster of crags, hung to their ships all through the night. They were the farthest out of the unfortunate seven ships and were taken off at daylight by a fishing smack that loomed up a welcome rescuer through the fog.

For those who reached the shore during the night, the dark, cold hours in scant, wet clothing were almost as trying as for their squadron mates still aboard the wrecks.

Special Train for Gobs. Later railroad ties were gathered and camp fires were lit. Doctors came from Lompoc to attend the five score injured who were bruised and battered by the pounding surf. A special train with doctors, nurses and food started for the refuge camp from San Luis Obispo before two o'clock in the morning at Santa Barbara, too, sent her quota of medical aid to the castaways. Thirteen of the more seriously injured survivors were rushed to a Santa Barbara hospital.

Two life rafts put off from the stranded flotilla and headed blindly for supposed safety through the black fog. One of the rafts, however, was picked up at Alright, a naval wireless station about three miles south of the wreck this morning. Three men are still missing.

Oil from the overflowing tanks of the wrecks coated the sea and added to the chances of death for the men of the fleet. More fortunate comrades who succeeded in gaining the shore or a foothold on adjacent rocks told of their shipmates slipping from their grasp as they endeavored to drag them to safety.

Seaman Pearson of the Delphy went to his death a victim of the oil. Blinded by the murky coating on the sea and crazed by the pain of his injuries, he resisted efforts of his mates to rig a breeches buoy to carry him to safety. Then the vessel began to break up and his comrades were forced to lash him to a mast as a last resort, but as the remainder of the crew went over the side the craft cracked in two and Pearson went down with his ship.

Flotilla Helpless to Aid. The fog, treacherous currents and air overhead full of confused radio, tied the hands of the remainder of the destroyer squadron and prevented them from going to the aid of the stricken seven. Standing out in the channel during the night, warned by the fate of the others that they were far off their course and unable in the darkness to correct their bearings, they were unable to offer help without the almost certain probability of joining the others on the rocks.

The body of Fireman's Mate Conroy, of Oklahoma, was the first recovered last night. The dead sailor was the first to find a place on the rescue train. As approximately 600 of his surviving mates lined up uncovered beside the tracks, the body was placed aboard for transfer to Santa Barbara.

All of the seven smashed ships are believed to be beyond salvage, except for some of the equipment. Each was valued at approximately $150,000. The group of rocks which proved the tombstones of these trim craft rose abruptly jagged from the ocean. They extend out to sea approximately 500 yards from shore. Here the steamer Santa Rosa went down about twelve years ago and in past years other vessels have met their doom on this ragged reef.

List of Missing. A list of dead and missing in the wreck of seven destroyers was compiled here today. It is lacking in initials and other details because the official records were on the Delphy which sank. The list follows:

Dead: R. A. Conroy, fireman on the Delphy.

Missing: Kirby, seaman, second class. Everett Grady, fireman, second class. Vanechank, fireman, third class.

Taylor, engine room, second class. Overchimer, fireman, third class. Henry T. Kirk, fireman, third class. Joseph Slimak, fireman, third class. Dun, second class.

Seakewski, fireman, second class. Wade H. Morrison, fireman, third class. John Young, fireman, second class. C. F. Rodgers, fireman, third class. Pearson or Pierson, seaman, first class.

Enrique Torres, wardroom steward. Buchanan, chief pharmacist mate. Harrison, seaman, first class. Reddick, radio man, first class. Salazar, Coxswain.

Martin, seaman, first class. All the missing men are from the Young except Reddick and Martin, who are from the Delphy. These three possibly were saved as they left the wreck on a life raft. The raft has not been found. All others are thought to be in the hull of the Young.

Injured in Hospital Were: Gilbert Bauchman, Brooklyn, N. Y., cut and bruised, suffering from oil in throat and lung. W. C. Gerlach, machinist's mate, first class, Delphy, San Diego, suffering from exposure.

Arthur Lund, Delphy, first class seaman, Jamestown, N. Y., bruises and abrasions. Delphy, Davenport, Iowa, abrasions, contusions, cuts and exposure.

Gerald Tyler, Delphy, Charlestown, W. Va., exposure. Thayer Farman, Delphy, Montgomery, Ala., dislocated shoulder and shock, possibly internal injuries.

E. E. Palmer, Delphy, St. Paul, Minn., feet bruised. Harry Kravis, Delphy, St. Paul, cuts and shock.

John Becker, Young, St. Paul, contusions and shock. Delfin, Delphy, Philippines, bruises and cuts. John King, Delphy, Mulga, Ala., shock.

M. G. Scheerer, Young, Missouri, suffering shock. All will recover. Lieutenant Allan P. Mullannum, Delphy, San Diego, who was treated at the hospital, later went to his home.

LINER TREASURE TROVE AND CREW GUARD SAFE. San Francisco, September 10.—Captain C. J. Holland, all passengers and all members of the crew of the Pacific mail liner Cuba are safe and the $2,500,000 in treasure and all mail and baggage has been landed at Wilmington, according to word received by the general office here today.

Captain Holland, the third mate and four seamen are on the vessel, which is said to be in the same place on the reef where she struck Saturday night. The U. S. S. Selfridge, according to the message received here, landed treasure members of the crew and the treasure early today at San Pedro harbor.

NAVY REFUSES COMMENT ON DESTROYER DISASTER. Washington, September 10.—Lacking even the barest official explanation of the loss of seven first-class destroyers on the California coast, navy officials tonight continued to withhold judgment on what they termed the most severe peace time blow the navy has ever suffered.

Although regulations prescribe that every effort be made to save the immediately names of dead and injured in such cases, no such list had been received at the department up to a late hour tonight. The initial dispatch from Admiral Robinson, commanding the Pacific fleet, informed the department that specific orders had been issued for the preparation and relay of this list, the duty being assigned to Captain Edward H. Watson, commanding the wrecked squadron.

Discount Radio Story. The theory advanced in press dispatches that radio operators on the destroyers were thrown off their reckoning by shore signals intended for the Reno was declared by officers in the department to be doubtful. Leaving out of all consideration, they said, the material difference in location of the stranded mail steamer and the destroyer group, "position signals" invariably are addressed specifically to the ship which has requested them. This was held to make it probable that all of the operators on the naval vessels could have taken the signals as bearing upon their own course and to have acted in concert, although one might have done so.

Unofficial description of the scene of the wreck and known peculiarities of the coastal area in which it occurred, led to the belief by some officials that a tidal disturbance of unusual force threw the destroyers far off their course, possibly without the knowledge of the officers on board. A possible connection between such a earthquake was discussed. Records of the hydrographic office and reports of naval officers who have served extensively on the California coast agreed that the Santa Barbara section frequently experiences a strong eastward tide. It was suggested that such a tide might have been in force Sunday night, augmented by a trans-Pacific reflex from the Japanese shelf's shifting.

Officials in Quandary. Even in such a case, however, department officials were unanimous in confessing their inability to see in it a complete explanation of the catastrophe. Under all known types of cruising formations, they said, it was inconceivable that a warning could not have been given from the first or second ship to go around which would serve to divert the remainder, or at least to lessen the effect. Regulations prescribe for curtailment of speed, continuous sounding of sirens and, if near a coast, for constant heaving of a depth-lead during a fog.

Under these requirements, officers here said, the first ship to strike ordinarily would have tied her siren down" to warn those behind.

Secretary Denby said the department would await the report of the phenomenon and the recent Japanese board of investigation, organized automatically as soon as the accident was reported to the commander in chief, before he would decide whether an inquiry would be ordered to a personal responsibility. In the meantime, he asked that the public follow the department in withholding its judgment.

Records of the navy show the service has been singularly free from losses to its destroyer branch. Out of 241 such ships which have been commissioned since the type was first adopted, only one previous wreck by grounding has been recorded.

The navy department compiled tonight from press dispatches a list of "probable" missing in the disaster with their next of kin. It was made plain that the list was unofficial, only one death having been reported officially to the department, that of James Wheaton Harvey, son of James J. Harvey, of Omaha.

Twenty-two names appear in the list as follows: Ralph Kenneth Suchan, Rose, Okla.; Earnest Carl Harrison Fort Neches, Texas; James Tidwell Martin, Dallas, Texas; Henry Thompson Kirk, East St. Louis, Ill.; Wade Hampton Morris, Bluffdale, Texas; Gordon Jerome Overhiner, San Jose, Cal.; Clintus Allen Reddock, Ocean Beach, Cal.; Leo F. Rogers, North Baltimore, Md.; Charles Alfred Sailer, New Orleans, La.; Henry John Schrank, Milwaukee; Joseph John Slimak, Bridgeport, Conn.; Max Hall Taylor, Spokane, Wash.; Enrique Torres, Bulacan, P. I.; Edward Clinton Kirby, Charlotte, N. C.; John Young, Salt Lake City, Utah; August Zakrevich, Neb.; Vern Russell Van Schack, Fraxer, Iowa; James Thomas Pearson, Elk City, Okla.; Joseph Silva, Cambridge, Mass.; So-lomo Wharton, New York; Hugh Woodfin Skipper, Newville, Ala.

Eclipse Brings Cuts and Burns To Many Fingers

The sun eclipse was a complete success in Atlanta. Everything went as per schedule. There was not a hitch in the proceedings and not a discordant note was heard. Just at the moment forecasted in press dispatches Old Father Sun went into hiding and precisely at the time set for him to reappear he stopped his little game of peekaboo.

There were some who had their fingers broken in trying to pull out a piece of broken glass from the window in the old woodshed and whoever escaped cutting his digit certainly got burned when he held the match under the piece of glass. Poor custom has it that one must burn a piece of glass until it becomes somewhat smoky before it can be turned to the sun.

It was about 2:30 when the office boy with an excitement unusual in one of his mature age, started to agitate us over the miraculous celestial phenomenon. "There is a nick taken right out of the sun," he said, holding in his hand the smoke-smearing piece of glass in his handkerchief-banded fingers.

And sure enough the whole sun was not there any more. A piece had taken it away. That was the question agitating the minds of thousands at that moment. Plain case of daylight robbery, so to speak.

On the roof of The Constitution building a couple of printers deserted their little stools in front of the linotype machines, to the immense chagrin of the composing room foreman, and went up to get a look at the eclipse. Although the whole sun was not there, it was pretty warm on the roof.

"Let's go in the shadow," said one of them. "It's too warm there." Which reminded us of the corporal who during our army career was instructed by the major to notify the troops that a sun eclipse would take place on the following day, and that the company would fall in on the drill square to observe the phenomenon.

This is the way the corporal conveyed his superior's injunctions at the barracks room. "By order of Major Thunderbliss, there will be a sun eclipse tomorrow on the drill square. In case of rain the eclipse will be held in the shed."

However, said did not interfere with proceedings in Atlanta. Slowly the piece of the moon crept over the sun. The darkened glass showed distinctly the flaming corona of the greatest orb in our universe. These tiny spurs of flame, appearing like little dancing tongues are in reality masses of helium shooting thousands of miles into ether. At least that is what the men of science tell us and they are supposed to know their business.

The total eclipse did not last over three minutes. Seen from Atlanta no more than a tiny third of the sun's surface was covered by the nebulous cloud.

While thousands stood still and for a moment even bricklayers stopped their laying of bricks, the astronomers and experts on the California coast worked at top speed. To them the three minutes were precious as gold. Their immense photographic apparatus was following the sun in its course and was clicking away shooting pictures every half second. From these pictures they will be able to tell of what the corona of the sun really consists of. They had to take this opportunity for the next one will come on in the year 2040.

Fenn Must Explain Failure to Appear At Harrison Trial

F. E. Fenn, assistant superintendent of the local Pinkerton detective agency, was not present in Fulton superior court Monday when he was called as a witness in the trial of Attorney Fred E. Harrison on charges of alleged misuse of funds entrusted to him by a client.

Judge John D. Humphries issued an attachment for contempt against him. Local officers of his agency said that he had not received any subpoena to appear in this case and was in Chattanooga when the case was called. He is expected to return to the city Tuesday morning, having been notified by telephone of the court's action.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. M. J. NASH

Funeral services for Mrs. Marinda Jane Nash, who died Sunday at the home of her son, E. F. Nash, of 25 North Mason avenue, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence, Rev. J. M. Liffey and Rev. J. W. Veach officiating.

Mrs. Nash was born in Gilmer county, coming to Atlanta in 1893, where she has resided since.

She is survived by seven sons, Charles G. of Sherman, Texas; W. Richard, of Dunwoody, Ga.; Tom P. John P. Henry O. Eugene F., of Atlanta, and Howard B. Nash, of Montgomery, Ala.; two daughters, Mrs. M. S. Gholston and Mrs. M. E. Harman, of Atlanta; one brother, Bud Guss, of Quinton, Okla. Atwry & Lowndes Co., in charge.

Changes in Freight Classifications Will Be Discussed

Changes in freight classifications, proposed by shippers, will be discussed at an opening of the state public service commission at 10 o'clock this morning. The hearing is of great interest to all shippers and carriers. The proposed changes, if

New Sports Coats for Fall

Are the Essence of Style for the Sports Woman and the College Miss

Everywhere one turns one sees evidence of the marked popularity that the sports coat is winning for the coming season. One sees them in the windows of the smart Fifth Avenue shops; one reads about them in style paragraphs throughout the various fashion publications. And, one may find some of the season's most swagger styles to choose from at High's now, from

$19.75 to $59.50

Some of them step out of the sports realm and top themselves with fluffy fur collars. Some of them stick to tradition and remain plain, if one can attach such a word as plain to garments possessing so much style.

They're in belted or straight-line styles. Some buttoning down the front with good looking buttons that add to their style, some clasping at the side with a huge plaque fastening or button.

In soft wool materials in block plaids or stripes or colored overplaids. Colors are richly blended or artistically contrasted—such colors as

Black with grey Tan with brown
Brown with green Brown with blue

Want something different in the way of a coat this season? Something that's striking and handsome; a coat that you can wear for sports wear as well as street wear? These coats are the answer. Three of our styles are sketched here.

MISUSE OF FUNDS CHARGED BY HILL

Demand for impeachment of the chief of construction and the entire streets committee of council for alleged use of public funds for private purposes will be considered by council next Monday with recommendation from Mayor Sims that council take such action as the seriousness of the charges warrants.

The demand comes from Charles Hill, secretary of the Atlanta Federation of Railway Employees and resident of West End, who wrote Mayor Sims Monday, demanding impeachment of Mr. Hill and the streets committee on the ground that they had taken $194.35 of public money, voted by council for street improvements, and used it along with a convict gang from the city stockade to improve private property controlled by Carl Dolvin, former member of council, on the corner of Lillian and Oak Hill avenues.

Mayor Sims stated that he would forward the letter to council with instructions that the council take immediate action on the charges.

Chief of Construction Hill, informed of the charges and proposed impeachment, said that the charges were apparently inspired by a misunderstanding of what had been done. "The money was appropriated to improve Lillian avenue from Tift to Stewart avenue," he said, "and part of this improvement was to widen the street by extending a fill on either side of it. We found it cheaper to take the dirt out of the property mentioned by Mr. Hill with consent of the owners, who wanted it graded, than it would have been to have taken it from any other place. Whatever benefit may have accrued to that property was incidental to the authorized and necessary work of making the fill."

The probable cause of the charges will take, members of council said Monday, will be to refer the matter back to the streets committee for recommendation to the next session of council.

The text of Mr. Hill's letter to Mayor Sims was as follows:

"The treasurer of the city of Atlanta and secretary of the Atlanta Federation of Railway Employees, I demand that impeachment proceedings be instituted against the streets committee of the city council and the chief of construction for misuse of city funds.

"The specific misuse being: Spending of $194.35 of an appropriation of $200 (intended for the improvement of Lillian avenue, between Tift and Stewart avenues) for the improvement of property controlled by Mr. Carl Dolvin, real estate speculator.

"Over the appropriation was the use of a crew of inmates from the city stockade who were very much averse to such use of money that they pay into the treasury of the city and I am certain that the citizens of the tenth ward dislike to have such flagrant misappropriation of public money. Mistakes are made by the best of men, but such a thing as was done at the corner of Oak Hill street and Lillian avenue cannot be classed as a mistake. We see blind men every day in Atlanta who know when they come to a curbstone and know that they are on private property. I hope that you will give this your immediate attention."

"Miss Atlanta" Home With Beauty Pageant Trophy

At upper left, Miss Frances Thayer, who represented Atlanta at last week's Atlantic City National Beauty tournament, and the big silver loving cup she won in the rolling chair pageant. At upper right, she is seen on the boardwalk in the magnificent decorated rolling chair supplied for the event by The Constitution. Below is a part of the southern division of beauties on parade in the bathing revue. The first girl is "Miss Asheville," then come "Miss Atlanta," "Miss Jacksonville" and "Miss Birmingham" in order.

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT.
The dust of the 1923 national beauty tournament has settled about the fashionable boardwalk of Atlantic City. Awards have been made; the marvelous beauties who represented the various cities have returned to their homes, and the summer season is a thing of the past.

The roar of the gigantic crowds that flocked to Atlantic City from all parts of the country has given way to the quieter murmur of the surf and the time for reviewing the pageant is at hand.

Local interest centers in Miss Frances Thayer, 17-year-old blonde beauty who bore the title of "Miss Atlanta" to the pageant and who returned to Atlanta Sunday afternoon with a big silver loving cup attesting to the fact that "Miss Atlanta" and the southern division had won second prize in the gorgeous rolling chair pageant.

"I'm delighted to be back home," Miss Thayer declared Monday as she received friends at the home, 328 Park Drive. "I had the most glorious trip in all my life, and so far as winning honors is concerned, I have all along felt sufficiently gratified at being chosen 'Miss Atlanta' in 'The Constitution's' contest.

"However, I'm glad we did not come back empty-handed," she smilingly pointed to the foot-high silver cup—"and I hope that everyone interested in my venture in the national contest feels as contented with the result as I do."

Miss Thayer declared that the judging was fair and impartial. "The final winners in the bathing revue," she said, "were beautiful girls, any one of them worthy the title of 'Miss American.' Next to my very natural pride in the title of 'Miss Atlanta,' I am gratified at having been classed with them."

"And 'Miss Atlanta' was eminent right in her statement. The five winners—representatives of Columbus, Brooklyn, Coney Island, St. Louis and Philadelphia—were magnificent specimens of womanhood."

Eighty-four beauties competed in the tournament, and "Miss Atlanta's" pride in her magnificent silver cup was also justified when one considers that the cream of America's beauty was entered.

AIRPLANE LANDING FIELD READY SOON, SAYS MAYOR SIMS

A municipal airplane landing field on the city's property on Peachtree creek near Collier road will soon be opened and probably will insure Atlanta's being placed on a United States air mail route, Mayor Walter A. Sims announced Monday.

The tract is 80 acres in size and practically level. The dredging and straightening of Peachtree creek by the county, recently completed, removes danger of inundation and with a few hundred dollars expended in clearing off underbrush and rolling the land, it will be one of the best landing fields in the south, the mayor believes. It is four miles from the postoffice and on a direct paved highway to the postoffice, making it more adaptable for an air station.

When the question of the city's buying or renting a tract for an airplane landing field came up some time ago, Mayor Sims declared that the city's property be used. Several aviators criticized it on the ground that it was subject to unfavorable air currents but the faults were not considered serious enough to discard the tract as a prospective air landing station.

CLUB WANTS MARKET NAMED FOR J. L. KEY

Resolutions passed by the Farmers' Curb Market association, requesting that the municipal market now under construction be named the "James L. Key Market House" in honor of former Mayor Key, were forwarded Monday to members of the city council and directors of the market. Members of the Farmers' association declared that Mr. Key had led the fight of the Atlanta Woman's club, which had resulted in the new structure becoming a reality. Attached to the resolutions were the signatures of C. G. Julian, president of the Curb Market association; J. J. Rose, vice president; and W. L. Quinn, secretary.

SODATOL AVAILABLE FOR GEORGIA FARMERS

Eighteen million pounds of sodatol, a surplus war explosive, will be available for distribution to the federal agencies and the state highway department about October 1 for use in road construction, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. The supply is also to be drawn on by farmers through state distributing agents for use in land clearing, but it is believed that the supply will be ample to meet all demands.

Sodatol is a high explosive by mixing together TNT and sodium nitrate and is packed in boxes of 50 pounds each, supplying 120 cubic feet of gas. Each stick is approximately equal in strength to a stick of 40 per cent dynamite and is used in similar manner. No. 6 can be placed as a detonator.

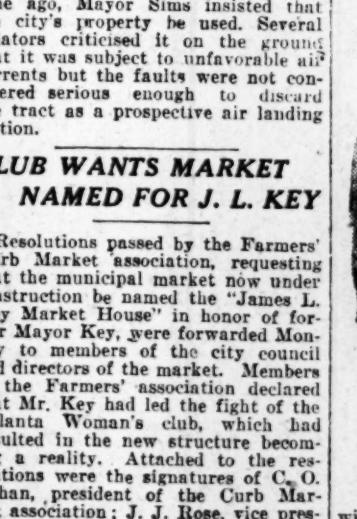

A contract for carting has been let to the DuPont company and shipment will be begun from Barksdale, Wis., about October 1, and it is expected, later from Kewanee, N. J.; Ashburn, Mo.; Louviers, Col., and DuPont, Wash.

The new supply of explosives is well adapted to road work, it is stated. It will not freeze at ordinary temperatures, cause no ill effects from handling or open air blasting and is a safe explosive when given the same care as that required for dynamite. It is necessary that it be stored in a dry place, according to instructions.

It is expected that practically all the state highway departments will requisition a supply that many of them will make available a portion of the supply to local road officials. Distribution for road work will be made only through state highway departments, largely in carload lots on account of the high freight rates on lesser amounts. The only expense involved will be the cost of preparing the explosive for shipment and the cost of transportation.

STATE RESOURCES WILL BE STUDIED

Governor Clifford Walker believes the natural resources of Georgia hold a great prosperity for the state in the future and at the hearings his special tax commission are to hold in connection with its study of the tax problem, he is planning to call the "hidden wealth" to the attention of citizens.

"I believe in Georgia," said the governor, "and I believe the time is not far distant when the state will rank as one of the most progressive and most prosperous in the union."

The development of these resources rests to a large extent with private citizens of the state, but the governor also is of the opinion the state government can take an important lead in this direction.

More manufacturing plants, a greater diversification in the farming industry, improved highways, with a water power project, and a development of enterprises relating to the mineral and ceramic resources of the state are some of the things on the governor's program.

His prepared instructions to the commission providing for a study of the needs of the various educational and eleemosynary institutions have as one of their objects the educating of the students and citizens along the lines of developing the state's resources, he said, it was equally important that both students and citizens learn of the wealth the state holds for them and the methods of taking advantage of it.

A number of the leading business men and farmers of Georgia have talked with the governor on the subject, he said, both urging and lending their support to the movement. The realization of the campaign, it was stated, will mean the financial independence of the state and departure from cotton as the chief money crop of the farmer.

Tremors in Night Scarify Shattered Nerves, But Reconstruction Goes Steadily On.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
London, September 10.—Typhoid and dysentery have broken out in Tokyo and there is great need for medical supplies, says a dispatch to the Daily Express dated Sunday.

The British and American embassies have established headquarters in the Imperial hotel, which escaped demolition. The group of foreigners stationed at Miyashita, a summer resort in the Hakone district, has been rescued.

Osaka, September 8.—(By the Associated Press, Delayed.)—An Eastern News agency dispatch to the Osaka Asahi from Tokyo today says that many of the hundreds of refugees gathered in Ueno park, Tokyo, have committed suicide as a result of hunger and exposure.

Most of the refugees are exhausted and only a few are able to walk and these are fleeing to Nippon, where tens of thousands of other refugees are collected. A large number of women and children are reported to be lying helpless near the Nippon railway station, unable to continue their flight.

Tokyo, September 10.—Sharp earthquake shocks again last night aroused considerable nervousness but did not interfere with the work of reconstruction which the end of the first week following Japan's disaster shows to be well under way.

The cabinet is co-operating in every way with business men and the military in the work of rehabilitation.

New plans of the government look to the prevention of such widespread destruction in the event of another earthquake. The plans were not made public, but are known to include provision for fireproof and quakeproof buildings and avoidance of congestion.

For the better administration of relief and reconstruction the military staff has been divided between Tokyo and Osaka. Tokyo banks have resumed normal payments. Tokyo and Osaka now are linked by fast boats and trains are running again between Tokyo and Yokohama.

Admiral Anderson, commander of the Asiatic fleet of the United States navy, now is in Tokyo. The people are displaying their gratefulness for the prompt assistance given by America and Great Britain.

Conditions ease up in disaster zone. London, September 10.—The Japanese embassy here is in receipt of advice from the foreign office in Tokyo stating in effect that the general situation in the earthquake zone is ameliorating. Large quantities of rice and other foodstuffs are arriving and the food situation has been greatly relieved. Railroad traffic has been completely restored, except on a portion of the Tokaido line, and in a few days complete repairs will be effected on the telephone system.

Although the chief centers of business in Tokyo and Yokohama were completely destroyed, order is being maintained and the banks are making payments in accordance with the moratorium. When imperial sanction has been received for opening the vaults of the bank of Japan and the issuance of bank notes, assistance will be rendered to the smaller banks in the country, which will greatly improve general credit transactions and facilitate resumption of business.

The dispatch adds that in spite of the magnitude of the disaster it is hoped that the economic condition of the country would be speedily restored to normal.

Deaths count now totals 70,000. Washington, September 10.—The dead counted by Japanese authorities up to September 7, number 47,000 in Tokyo and 25,000 in Yokohama, the foreign office in Tokyo reported tonight to the Japanese embassy here.

The message said 150 foreigners had been killed "too far as has been ascertained."

About 316,000 houses, or 71 per cent of all, were destroyed in Tokyo, while 70,000 of the 85,000 houses in Yokohama met a similar fate. Police of Tokyo, according to the message, estimated 1,500,000 persons homeless there, constituting 67 per cent of the total population.

The deaths of the British assistant commercial attaché, Horne and Davis Waddell, in Yokohama, were reported.

Five of the leading banks opened for business on September 8.

Better efficiency in foreign communications will be attained within a few days, the message predicted.

Japanese Ambassador Presents Formal Thanks. Washington, September 10.—Ambassador Hanabusa presented to Secretary Hughes today a message from Count Yamamoto, prime minister of Japan, expressing the deep sense of gratitude of the Japanese sovereign and people and declaring that "this precious gift of American sympathy" cannot but leave the people of the world in drawing still closer the bond of friendship and trust between the two countries.

Japan's time when Japan was making her best endeavors to follow the letter and spirit of the Versailles treaty and the Washington treaties, which, we believe have laid the foundation of world peace and will greatly promote human welfare," the minister said.

In this hour of deep grief and anxiety, felt alike by the emperor and all his subjects, the president of the United States has issued a proclamation urging the American people to come to the aid of the stricken people of Japan and designating the American Red Cross as the agency for the entire fleet for the immediate relief of the sufferers.

Then the commander of the American Asiatic fleet lost no time in dispatching the ships under his command to the scene of the disaster and the fleet of the United States for the immediate relief of the sufferers.

Some of these vessels have already arrived in the harbor of Yokohama. At the same time the Philippine government sent transports loaded with full cargoes for the relief.

In the midst of the bewildering devastation, American Ambassador Woods, together with the staff of embassy and Americans resident in Japan, are helping the relief work.

The report of the spontaneous and prompt measures taken by the president, the government and people of the United States, is creating a profound impression in the grateful hearts of suffering Japan.

"With these facts in mind, I desire to express in the name of the Japanese government their most heartfelt thanks to the American government, and at the same time to convey to the president and people of the United States a deep sense of gratitude for their sovereign and of the entire nation of Japan for the aid and sympathy."

I am happy in believing that this precious nation cannot but serve the peace of the world in drawing still closer the bond of friendship and trust between the two countries."

London, September 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fifty persons are reported killed or injured in an earthquake which shook Calcutta today, says an exchange telegraph despatch from that British Indian city.

New York, September 10.—The earthquake which killed fifty persons at Calcutta today probably was supplemental to the disastrous quake in Japan, the opinion of Chester A. Beers, in charge of the seismograph at the American Museum of Natural History.

Calcutta is not in the same earthquake zone as Japan, but in one that begins in southern China and extends to the Mediterranean.

The Calcutta disturbance is not likely to be immediately followed by another of serious dimensions, he said.

Washington, September 10.—Appointment of Nathaniel B. Stewart of Georgia as consul general at Yokohama, Japan, present, since the death of C. P. Pooler, assigned to that post, is detailed in the United States by a death in his family, was announced formally today by the state department.

Mr. Pooler, who was in Washington enroute to Yokohama but has gone to his home in Virginia. The temporary appointment of Mr. Stewart was made due to the very great necessity, under conditions at present existing in Japan, that a consul general proceed to Yokohama at once.

Mr. Stewart will sail on the President Jefferson September 23.

Greenwood, S. C., September 10.—For the second time Berry B. Hughes, mill village merchant, went on trial in court today for the murder of Oscar Mitchell, Greenwood baseball player, formerly of Augusta, Ga., who was shot to death by E. Clayton Underwood on August 3, 1922, in a local mill village.

Underwood was given a life sentence in September last. Hughes' case resulted in a mistrial at that time. Underwood is still in the county jail pending an appeal for a new trial.

The jury was sequestered in forty minutes this morning. Judge J. Henry Johnson, of Aiken, is presiding.

WORKERS RAP REPORT OF COAL COMMISSION

Washington, September 10.—The United Mine Workers of America, in a statement issued here, attacked yesterday's report of the coal commission on causes of strikes as reading "very much like a well-prepared brief in behalf of the non-union bituminous coal operators of West Virginia and north-eastern Kentucky."

"Those non-union operators," the statement said, "should immediately hold a meeting and give a rising vote of thanks to the commission for that report," which it asserted, "clearly attempts to place upon the United Mine Workers of America the blame for what happens in these non-union fields."

"Why did not the commission," it asked, "declare the non-union coal companies have no right under the law or the constitution to use force and coercion to prevent their men from voluntarily asserting their right to affiliate with union labor."

"The commission knows very well that the only reason that the unorganized miners of West Virginia have not been organized long ago is that the private armed guards and gunmen are there for the purpose of seeing to it that the men do not get an opportunity to join the union."

"The commission devoted much space to telling of crimes which it says were committed by union miners, but it did not even mention the scores of crimes of company thugs and gunmen that were brought directly to the attention of the commission by the United Mine Workers of America."

The flat denial was made that the United Mine Workers had paid more than $400,000 in wages for the destruction of the Willis Branch Coal company's mines, as stated in the report.

Secures a Splendid Position After Taking a Course In the Southern Business College

The Employment Department of the Southern Places Ernest Mison, Student, with the Continental Paper and Bag Mills.

The fall term enrollment continues with increasing activity at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, 11 Whitehall street, and while a large number have already entered, many others have sent in their applications for entrance during this week and next.

Students are entering the Southern from Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Virginia, Texas, Arkansas, the Carolinas and all parts of Georgia.

Appreciation of the Southern's training is expressed in the most complimentary terms in a letter just received from Ernest A. Mison, a young man who entered the school with a determination to master the prescribed courses, which he afterwards did in a creditable manner.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 8, 1923. Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Friends: As a student of the SOUTHERN, I feel it my duty, and indeed it is a pleasure, to send you a letter of thanks for the great interest shown toward me during my short term with you.

I am now with the Continental Paper & Bag Mills, which is, as you know, one of the largest Manufacturing Concerns in America. I began work here after a few months' schooling at the SOUTHERN, and have given a raise after a very short time with them.

Again I wish to thank all the teachers for their practical instruction and painstaking care with me. The SOUTHERN has been a great help to me in entering the Business World, and I am sure it would be to any one's advantage to spend a few months there.

Sincerely,
ERNEST A. MISON.

The Southern has just been renovated and is now the most model Business School in the Southeast.

has ever developed to indicate that such was a fact.

Interviews by investigators of Solicitor Boykin's office brought the information that on the night Ed Mills was killed in the Ansley hotel, following a card game in which Floyd Woodward was a participant, young Dorsey had been a spectator of the game until about five minutes before Mills was slain.

"Hell to Pay," He Said. Dorsey left the room in the Ansley where Woodward and Mills and his companions were gaming, and went to the Piedmont hotel cigar counter to see if Miss Lizzie Arnold, his alleged affinity, had finished her work for the day and was ready to go home.

The cigar clerk is said to have stated that she was not quite through, whereupon Dorsey became insistent that she leave with him at once and, explaining that he had just left the game, stated that there would be "hell to pay" very shortly.

Police were never able to ascertain the extent of Dorsey's knowledge of the events leading up to the shooting of Mills.

gered, before falling dead, were plainly evident. Signs of a struggle between two or more persons could be easily detected.

Shots Out Her Story. In the dim light of an oil lamp Mrs. Campbell sobbed out her story. Frequently she paused to wipe her tear-filled eyes.

"W. C. came into the house about 7 o'clock," Mrs. Campbell began. "He was drinking and immediately began threatening me. Some neighbors had told him about a woman who had slapped her husband and he said if I did anything like that he would kill me."

"I was preparing supper and when he walked from the kitchen into the front bed room I thought he was satisfied. He held his fire and hands and got ready for supper."

"But when he came back into the kitchen he seized me and began to make threats against my life. Then he began to strike me and dragged me out on the back porch."

JUDGE G. W. THOMASON

Judge G. W. Thomason, Mayor of Tarrant City, Alabama, widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen, recently gave his unqualified endorsement to the Tanlac treatment.

"Chronic indigestion brought me to the verge of a general breakdown three years ago," said Judge Thomason, "and nothing seemed to afford much relief. I was eating scarcely enough to keep going on, and food stayed in my stomach like a rock, causing pain and extreme nervousness. Sleep was often impossible, and I gradually weakened so I could hardly attend to my office duties."

"The first bottle of Tanlac improved my appetite and digestion wonderfully, my nervousness disappeared and I rested better at night. Each successive bottle gave added impetus to my returning strength, and I felt ten years younger when I finished the sixth bottle a short time later. Tanlac gave me new zest in life that still remains with me."

MARINE CORPS ENDS MARCH IN VIRGINIA

Port Defiance, Va., September 10.—With heads up and in high spirits, the Marine Corps expeditionary force today stepped out the last sixteen miles of their outward journey from Quantico to this place. Breaking camp at 7 a. m., the force took to the road, making light work of the miles in the cool, bright weather, and at noon swung off the roadway and on to the camp site where tents were quickly pitched and the men entered a short breathing spell prior to the serious business of the intensive training exercises which are to fill the next sixteen days on the New Market battle grounds.

General Smedley Butler did not arrive with the marines, pressing business having required his temporary return to Quantico by airplane for a consultation with William A. Roper, famous Princeton coach, who is putting the finishing touches on the Marine corps football team in preparation for its games with Virginia Military Institute and Georgetown University. The general will return by airplane tomorrow and the real work of the training exercises and military exhibitions will then begin in earnest.

GIFTS THAT LAST

Daughter Will Fight Woodward Will in Courts

The will of the late James G. Woodward, four times mayor of Atlanta and dominant figure in city politics for many years, who died two weeks ago, will be contested by his only child, Mrs. J. N. Renfro, it was learned Monday when his will was offered for probate in the office of Ordinary Thomas H. Warren, disclosing that no amount of the estate valued at $800,000 had been left for Mrs. Renfro.

An annuity of $75 a month, with an elastic clause which permits of an increase of this amount in event of sickness, and use of the home at 251 East Hunter street during her lifetime was provided for Mrs. Violet E. Woodward, the second wife. The remainder of the estate was left to the International Typographical Union's Home, of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Will File Caveat.
A caveat to the will will be filed with Ordinary Warren prior to the first Monday in October, it was announced by James L. Key, of the firm of Key & McClelland, attorneys for Mrs. Renfro. The day before the hearing of the probate of the will is October 1.

The will was dated November 24, 1922, two months after his marriage to Mrs. Violet McCracy, his second wife, and at the time it was written provided for an allowance of $30 a month for Mrs. Renfro, provided she was ever in "dire want," subject to decision of the Fourth National bank, named as executor of the will. On February 25, 1923, a substitute clause was inserted revoking the original provision of request in its entirety.

Law on Bequests.
Attorney Key has made no statements concerning grounds upon which he will base his legal action to set aside the will. It was pointed out in legal circles Monday that under Georgia laws not more than one-third of an estate can be set aside for charity and that any clause in a will seeking to bequest more than the stipulated maximum, renders the entire will null and void. Also it is pointed out that a child and a wife shall share equally in an estate where no will is left.

If the action to set aside the will of the late James G. Woodward is successful, the grounds suggested, it was stated Monday that Mrs. Renfro and the widow of Mr. Woodward would share equally in the estate, which is valued at $800,000.

Disinherited Daughter.
One provision of the will, referring to his daughter, reads, "I cancel all bequests and obligations she may be due me, but on account of her grossly unbecoming and unwarranted inhuman treatment of me, her father and only true friend, she shall in the world, I do not feel called upon to make any special bequest and do not do so." Just following this provision, a paragraph is inserted which provides for allowance of $50 per month and says "she is totally unworthy of anything that I possess or may leave after death."

Another section of the will provides that no other members of the family be buried in the Woodward lot in Oakland cemetery except his two wives and himself, and that "inasmuch as my daughter has married and changed her name," it is asked that the inscription on the monument in the lot be changed and the name of "Violet E. Woodward," be carved instead.

FAIR AND COOLER WEATHER TODAY, SAYS FORECASTER
Atlanta weather will continue fair with cooler temperatures for the day, Forecaster C. F. von Hermann predicted Monday. The general outlook for the week is fair except for the latter part, which may bring showers. Moderate temperatures will prevail. Atlanta's maximum temperature Monday was 64.

Rains have generally ceased in the cotton belt, except for the region near the Gulf coast, which is under the influence of high atmospheric pressure central over the lake region. Cooler weather was recorded in almost all the northern localities.

WILL OF MRS. LOWRY PROBATED ON MONDAY
Providing for the construction of a special building at Oglethorpe university at a cost of $200,000, to be known as the "Robert J. and Emma Markham Lowry School of Banking and Commerce," the will of the late Mrs. Emma C. Lowry, widow of Colonel Robert J. Lowry, Monday was probated before the ordinary of Fulton county.

The will also provides for scholarships for deserving young men at Oglethorpe and the Georgia School of Technology. J. H. Porter, Mrs. Lowry's nephew, is named executor of these and various other bequests.

NEGRO TO SPEAK FOR BETHEL CHURCH
Roscoe C. Simmons, one of the best known negro orators in America, will speak in the auditorium-armory, October 5, under joint auspices of Big Bethel church and the Atlanta Urban League, for the benefit of the Big Bethel rebuilding fund, it was announced Monday.

A large audience heard Simmons in an address in Atlanta in 1922.

BEARRIE MURDOCK POINTS FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

R. N. Berrien, Jr., former local broker, losing a point on law in a ruling handed down Monday by the supreme court of Georgia. Berrien is appealing from the Fulton superior court, which has sentenced him to three to five years in the penitentiary on a charge of larceny after trust. The ruling Monday does not decide the case, as it is still before the court of appeals, the supreme court merely answering questions which had been certified to it by the lower appellate court.

Berrien was convicted on a charge of misappropriation of state funds for school warrants, which in his capacity of broker, he had discounted for the state. The supreme court holds that the money he is charged with having illegally used entrusted to him by the superintendent of schools of Murray county and that it was, as charged in the indictment, the property of Murray county, even though the warrant itself had been delivered to Berrien by the state school superintendent.

Attorneys representing Berrien had contended that the indictment was in error in that the funds in question were the property of the state and not of Murray county. The court also held that the transaction was a bailment and not a sale and that its legality as a bailment cannot be questioned.

It is also held that a conviction could be authorized, although the evidence did not show demand for the money as set forth in the indictment. It also holds that, even should the court of appeals find that the evidence did not warrant conviction on one of the two counts of the indictment, it would not therefore be mandatory to set aside the entire judgment of the lower court.

Berrien was convicted at the March, 1923 term, of larceny after trust of $20,411.17 from T. W. Colvard, superintendent of schools of Murray county. He is now out on bond pending decision of the appeal. State officials claim that in addition to the Murray county funds, he misappropriated other school moneys of the state to the amount of more than $40,000.

PLAN EARLY START ON SAFEGUARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS
Safeguarding the girls' high school from fire as the result of faulty electric wiring will be arranged at a conference this morning between the city electrician, the business manager of the school, and the city fire department. It was announced Monday following Mayor Walter A. Sims' action in signing the $1,000 appropriation voted by council for the work.

Because the work will be in the nature strictly of repairs, it was stated that it would not be necessary to advertise for bids, but that the purchasing agent and purchasing committee of council, with approval of the schools department and city electrician, could award the contract without formality of sealed bids.

At the same time that he signed the girls' high appropriations, Mayor Sims vetoed three measures of council to increase salaries of city employees. He also vetoed a measure of council to increase salaries of city employees. He also vetoed a measure of council to increase salaries of city employees.

Woman Is Excused When She Appears For Jury Service
Mrs. M. D. Farnham, of 82 West North avenue, appeared Monday morning in Fulton superior court in response to a duly authenticated summons for "jury service," but when she stood up to answer to the roll call of jurors summoned, she was excused by Judge Humphries on the grounds that "there has been a mistake."

Judge Humphries explained that there was no provision under Georgia laws which would permit a woman to serve as juror in this state and that the absence of a prefix of Mr. or Mrs. before Mrs. Farnham's name had probably resulted in the error in summoning her for service.

Mrs. Farnham was ready for duty when called, but expressed no regret over learning that she was excused.

Increase Divorce And Marriage Shown in Report

According to statistics given out by the United States department of commerce and collected by the bureau of the census, 33,685 marriages were performed in Georgia in 1922. To offset these additions to the ranks of the wedded, 1,833 divorces restored just twice that number of individuals to the joys of single life.

Comparing these figures with those of 1910, both departments show an increase. Cupid winning out in 32,268 cases in the latter year, while his work was undone in 1,399 divorces. Fulton county, of course, led in both branches in this country there were 4,157 marriages in 1922, compared with 2,904 in 1910, while the divorces granted were 536, compared to 301 in the earlier year. These figures, however, are subject to correction, it being pointed out that the reports are merely preliminary. They were furnished by the clerks of the superior courts and other county officials.

Other counties which led in this tabulation of domestic affairs are Richmond, Bibb, Chatham, Clarke and Muscogee. Seventeen counties had no divorces for 1922.

Visitors Flock Here To Witness Memorial Work
The extent to which interest has been aroused in the great Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial is indicated by an analysis of the visitors' registration book for the month of August, given out Monday by the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association.

It shows a total registration of 12,534 visitors during August, representing 42 states and eleven foreign countries.

The fact that not more than a third of the visitors who go to the mountain sign their names on the registration book makes this total all the more remarkable, officials declare. It is conservatively estimated by the executive committee that the total number of visitors at the mountain during August was at least 35,000, and that well over 100,000 visitors have been to the mountain during the months of June, July and August.

VERDICT IS RETURNED IN DEATH OF 2 BOYS
Alma, Ga., September 10.—A coroner's jury here today investigated the death of Luther and Estell Knowles, whose bodies were found badly mangled in the A. B. & A. railroad yards Sunday returned verdicts that death was due to being run over by a train. Both lived at Dorsey, four miles from Alma. They are supposed to have gone to sleep on the track. The discovery of the bodies was made when a dog came up in the front yard of Miss Lena Brown's residence with the hand of one of the young men in his mouth.

Unspinnable Cotton Carryover Total Asked By Governor Walker
Following receipt of a telegram from the United Co-Operative Marketing company, of Washington, calling his attention to the matter, Governor Walker on Monday sent a wire to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, asking that he advise the public immediately as to how much of the estimated cotton carryover of 2,500,000 bales is unspinnable cotton. This estimate of carry-over is of American cotton on August 1, 1922.

The telegram to the governor stated that based on the actual amount of usable cotton in the carry-over, growers should be receiving 35 cents per pound for their new cotton instead of 30 cents.

Central of Georgia Ordered to Pay Tax To Putnam County
The Georgia court of appeals Monday ruled that the Central of Georgia railroad would have to pay $463.34 in taxes for 1921 to Putnam county, the road having contested payment on the grounds that the tax levy was illegal, exceeding the rate the county was authorized under the law to levy.

The case arises out of action of Comptroller General William A. Wright's action in authorizing issuance of a fl fa against the road's property in Eatonton, county seat of Putnam, and advertising it for sale to meet this tax payment. The road had paid all other taxes, but claimed that this amount was in excess of what the county could lawfully collect.

Why Not Shorten Kitchen Hours?
by Sweet Rose

IN MY opinion the housewife is entitled to shorter working hours as well as the woman in the office. There's no sense in kitchen drudgery when it's not necessary. You can give your family good, substantial hot food and still have plenty of time "outside" the kitchen.

If you could save half your time in the kitchen for rest or more pleasant work, and still be able to give your folks the hot biscuits and other delicious bakings which they are used to, you'd be glad to do it, wouldn't you?

It's so easy. Just learn to do your baking with Sweet Rose Self-Rising Flour. The time you save by eliminating costly mistakes, guessing at proportions, measuring and mixing, will give you those extra precious moments for yourself.

Health is Wealth
Health is one of the greatest things your family can possess. It brings happiness and success. But health must be safeguarded by good wholesome foods that are prepared from the purest ingredients. This is especially true of bakings. If they are not properly raised, we all know that they are not easily digested. Many times when self-rising flour is used in place of good plain flour and dependable baking powder—the results are flat, soggy and heavy foods.

Don't take chances! Use a reliable brand of baking powder and plain flour. Then you will be sure of healthful bakings that are easily digested.

Remember, science has never found anything to take the place of the tried and tested method of using plain flour and good baking powder in preparing bakings. Millions of housewives now know by actual experience that many preparations that are claimed to take their place are worthless and dangerous to health. There is no comparison.

Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, is known to be one sure and positive aid to successful bakings that are always pure, sweet and wholesome.

That's the reason its sales are 2½ times as much as any other brand.

Hiles-Coleman Wedding Is Solemnized Monday

The marriage of Miss Maxine Hiles and George Street Coleman, of Birmingham, was an interesting social event of Monday afternoon, taking place at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Gordon Hiles, on Piedmont avenue.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Russell K. Smith before an assemblage of friends and relatives.

Decorations of Home.

The spacious reception rooms of the home were decorated with ferns, sunflowers and a profusion of fall garden flowers arranged on the wide mantels and consoles. The improvised altar in the living room was formed of palms, tall pedestal baskets an antique candelabra holding white burning tapers. Preceding the entrance of the bride party, Miss Carolyn Holliday sang "All for You" and "Until," accompanied by Miss Annie Johnson at the piano. The bride party entered as Miss Johnson played Lohengrin's wedding march.

Bridal Party.

The two attendants were Miss Dorothy Coffin and Miss Margaret Minahan. Miss Coffin's gown was of mid-night blue georgette, elaborately outlined in cut steel beads. Her hat was of oakwood brown velvet. Miss Minahan was gowned in navy blue satin trimmed with accented-plaided ruffles, and she wore a cloche hat of navy blue and gray velvet. Both attendants carried shaggy bouquets of Ophebe's roses.

The bride entered with her brother, George S. Hiles, who gave her in marriage. She wore a tulle costume of brown drapery fashioned in straight lines. Her hat was a French model felt with touches of beige. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and Hiles of the valley.

The groom, with his best man, E. M. Carnes, met the bride party at the altar where the ceremony was performed.

Informal Reception.

An informal reception was held immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table in the dining room was overlaid with a flit lace cover and held in the center a white bride's cake with figures of a bride and groom, daintily embossed thereon. Encircling this were silver compots filled with lavender mints and glass fruits, while silver candelabra holding burning tapers were placed at intervals.

Lunch was served from a crystal bowl placed on the sun parlor and embedded in similar and fall blossoms. Miss Marie Donnelly and Miss Mary Bell presided here.

Mrs. Gordon Hiles, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of gray roushanna crepe. She was assisted in entertaining by her sisters, Mrs. M. C. Sterne, of Anniston, Ala., who wore brown crepe de chine, and Miss Hennie Franklin, who was gowned in black georgette.

Miss Georgia Mae Little and Miss Margery DeLeon kept the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left during the evening for Signal Mountain, Chattanooga and Nashville, after which they will make their home in Birmingham, where Mr. Coleman is connected with the Stockman Pipe and Fitting company.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Among the guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sterne, of Anniston, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lochridge, of Miami, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Y. L. Taliaferro and D. M. Coleman, of Chattanooga; E. M. Carnes, of E. Yezzer and J. H. Mobley, of Birmingham, Ala.; and Anthony Lord, of Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Coleman is the only daughter of Mrs. Gordon Hiles. She is the sister of George T. Hiles and Gordon Hiles. She attended Washington seminary.

Mr. Coleman is the son of D. M. Coleman, of Chattanooga. He graduated from Georgia Tech and is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect.

Miss Ruth Burnett, a bride-elect, whose marriage to Stanley Morgan, of Charlotte, N. C., will be an event of September 23, was honored at a handkerchief shower at which Miss T. Cobb entertained at her home in West End recently.

The house was beautifully decorated with garden flowers and ferns. A color scheme of green and gold was carried out in the decorations as well as on the lace and favors.

Miss Gladys Rowland and Miss Myrtle Belle Durham gave several piano and violin selections. Mrs. M. J. Green sang "Why" and "The Four-Leaf Clover."

A contest was enjoyed in which Miss Elsie Kuhlman won the prize, a bottle of French perfume.

Miss Burnett was presented with many pretty handkerchiefs.

Those invited were: Miss Myrtle Belle Durham, Miss Gladys Rowland, Miss Elsie Kuhlman, Miss T. Cobb, Miss Betty Bixler, Miss Martha Morgan, Miss Omer Sherman, Miss Catherine Cobb, Miss Grace Norman, Miss Willette Elrod, Mrs. M. J. Green, Mrs. G. F. Tabler, Mrs. G. F. Kirby, Mrs. A. N. David, Mrs. W. B. Reese, Mrs. W. W. Willoughby, Mrs. Robert Morgan, Mrs. Willard Morgan, Mrs. J. L. Cobb, Mrs. Fred Burnett, Mrs. C. E. Burnett, Mrs. E. H. Stacey, Mrs. Charles Bledsoe, Mrs. G. T. Eubanks and Mrs. John Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Bevil Are Choir Hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bevil entertained a number of the Glenn Street Baptist choir at their home on Capitol View Tuesday evening in honor of W. H. Kershaw, the former chorister. The evening was spent in renewing friendships and singing of the old songs. Those present were Mr. Kershaw, Miss Dorothy Kershaw, Mr. and Mrs. P. Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. White, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Maffett, Mr. and Mrs. H. Holland, Mrs. Olivia Cooper, Mrs. Frank Beck, Miss Minnie Beattie, Miss Effie Davis, Harold Bevil, Miss Hazel Bevil and Comer Davis.

Weddings in September Rival Month of June

Savannah, Ga., September 10.—September promises to be a fair rival to June for the supremacy in the number of weddings to its credit. This month will take a large number of weddings of Savannah people that are of interest.

One of the most interesting out of town weddings will be that of Miss Rachel Beard, of Savannah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry Forbush of Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, to Capt. Jared Irwin Wood of this city, which will take place at the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park, Friday evening of next week at 8:30 o'clock. Captain Wood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wood of this city.

Miss Forbush will be attended by her sister, Miss Edith Forbush as maid of honor, and Miss Berkeley Carter Sloan as bridesmaid.

The groomsmen will be Raiford Wood, of Savannah, and Captain William Swift, U. S. A.

Immediately after the ceremony there will be a large reception at the home of the bride's parents at Oak Park.

Among other weddings of interest in this city which will also take place in September will be that of Miss Carrie Entelman and William A. Crawford, Friday, September 14; that of Miss Margaret Cornelia Fallon and William Carey Thomas, which takes place Saturday, September 15; that of Miss Cora Howard Thompson and Charles Garaman Whitfield, to be solemnized Tuesday, September 18, in St. John's Episcopal church; that of Miss Mary Martin and Arthur Denning Dutton, which will take place Thursday, September 20, in the First Presbyterian church; that of Miss Josephine Melvin Burnham and Clyde Roberts Hixon, of Stillson, Ga., the ceremony to be performed at 10 o'clock Saturday, September 22, in St. Paul's Episcopal church; that of Miss Leona Collins and Jay Theodore Endy, of Atlanta, to take place Tuesday, September 25, at the Second Baptist church; that of Miss M. C. L. Maffett, of Atlanta, and that of Miss Mary Clifford Quarterman, of Quincy, Fla., who will be married in the First Methodist church of Quincy, September 26, to George Franklin Dutton, of Savannah.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buchbaum announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose, to Oscar Marcus, of Andover, S. C. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawtell Honor Bridal Party With Supper

A beautiful social event of Monday evening was the buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sawtell at their home on Peachtree road, complimenting Miss Alice Greene and Richard Sawtell whose marriage will be a beautiful affair of Wednesday evening.

The spacious rooms of the handsome home were artistic in their decoration of vari-colored garden flowers gathered from the gardens of the hostesses. The table in the dining room was overlaid with a cloth of flit and Madeira. The central decoration of pink and white roses was encircled by silver candelsticks holding pink lighted tapers tied with butterfly bows of pink tulle.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Sawtell and the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Forest Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Palmer. Mrs. Sawtell wore a handsome gown of black lace.

Meeting at Woman's Club Inaugurates New Year

"There is a great power in this our Southland," said the Rev. Dr. James B. Mitchell, in a brilliant address before several hundred members at the opening meeting of the Atlanta Woman's club, Monday, afternoon. Through his language, continued Dr. Mitchell, "and its ideals, which are typical of the old Anglo-Saxons, much good may be accomplished in Americanizing those who come to us from afar." Dr. Mitchell is the new pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church. He delivered a most stirring address upon "Our Southland."

In the club auditorium at 3 o'clock the meeting was called to order by its president, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, after which the invocation was offered by Mrs. Norman Poole and America was sung in chorus.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. W. F. Melton, the minutes were read by Mrs. J. B. McNelly. The treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Alexander, gave an interesting report. Mrs. W. D. Williamson, chairman of the membership committee, announced the following new members as received into the club: Mrs. Henry Heinz, Miss Jane Wakefield, Mrs. Snow, Mrs. A. F. Enell, Mrs. S. B. Chapman, Mrs. W. L. Adair, Mrs. C. C. Shuler, Mrs. W. A. Byers, Mrs. Henry W.

Minor, Mrs. A. H. Gunter, Mrs. George N. Spring, Mrs. J. W. Simmons, Miss Edith Steadwell, Mrs. Miller Case.

A great many applications were made Monday for membership, but have not yet been officially received into the club.

Musical Program.
The musical program was under the supervision of Mrs. E. R. Hines, chairman of music in the Georgian Federation.

"Georgia Land," Mrs. Hines' own composition, was sung. Mrs. Hines is a finished musician and the chorus of 1,000 club members led by her, in community singing, was most inspiring. Following the music a most comprehensive report was made by Mrs. Richardson, giving a recapitulation of the summer's work of the club. Mrs. Arthur Hazard gave a financial report of auditorium and banquet hall committee.

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith announced the contract with the manager, Mr. Traylor, to bring to Atlanta the staging of the great kermesse, which has been seen over the south recently. This performance will be sponsored during the early season in Atlanta, by the Atlanta Woman's club. Mrs. Norman Sharp spoke of the municipal curb market.

Mrs. Charles Jerome called attention to the art classes which will be at the club house this month.

Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, chairman home economics, announced that all nine vocational classes had been filled except interior decorations and basketry. Following is the presidents report:

"Although the summer has been very hot and many women have been out of town, a few remaining at home have worked most zealously, as a recapitulation of the summer's work of the Atlanta Woman's club will show.

The curb market, the Atlanta Woman's club's very own child, has at last moved into permanent quarters, the market building actually is in process of erection and going so fast toward completion that it almost rivals Jack's world-renowned bean stalk.

Scholarships, awarded through the club, to ambitious students missing otherwise the draught at the fountain of knowledge, reach the sum of many thousands.

A distinguished Frenchman, a captain in the World war, being stranded here, was helped to help himself by a musical and personal contributions, which enabled him to reach New York, where he and reunion with family and friends awaited him.

A tubercular child was sent to Asheville, and financial arrangements perfected for a stay of two years if physicians there find it necessary.

"With the certain knowledge that one of the last beneficent acts of President Harding before he left for his fated trip to the far west, was to grant the request of the president of the Woman's club, by cabling to Constantinople to have the already closed sailing list reopened that a family of special deserving Armenians might come to America in safety. The club held impressive memorial services simultaneously with those taking place in Marion, Ohio, where the president, who could lay aside greater affairs of state, to be kind to the least of these, was being interred in the little family cemetery.

"The sale of cook books has continued with unabating zeal, netting the club an average of $100 a month. Three thousand dollars worth of advertising in the necessitated new edition of the popular cook book puts this edition on the market without one penny's indebtedness.

Mrs. Moore will entertain the members and guests at a beautiful reception following the business meeting and a program of music and other features will be given.

ern Council of Better Films have thrown along the line of Atlanta as to the ability of its women citizens as well as that of its men to do things well.

A memorable event was the dinner celebration on her 87th birthday, and the state which claims the dual honor of her citizenship and her distinction as the first woman to serve in the United States senate. Georgia's new governor and members of the legislature were honor guests also at a brilliant affair of mid-summer.

"From the realm of Altruism to that of Pragmatism we must descend or ascend, since we seem to be a practical aid in the development of our home city.

"During these summer months, the banquet hall has proved a financial life-saver. Mah Jongg and bridge parties, dances, The Constitution's "Miss Atlanta" contest have been staged there and the regular Friday afternoon teas have been deservedly popular.

"The coffers of the Pragmatist have defrayed the expenses of Altruism, the $5,000 debt on the banquet hall has been reduced to approximately $2,500, and approximately $1,000 has been paid on current bills left over from last year. The splendid work of the membership committee is attested in the exceptional enrollment of new members.

"The club and president acknowledge with sincere gratitude the efforts of those women who have been faithful during the long, hot days; whose fidelity has made this report possible."

The Man of Affairs:

HE WANTS TO KNOW THE TRUTH ON EUROPE

The Woman Who Takes Part in the World:

SHE TOO WANTS TO UNDERSTAND

"Can Europe Hold Together?"

BY an economist who writes for plain folk who have no time nor will to master the technical intricacies of the science.

Twenty articles, appearing daily, in this city exclusively in The Constitution beginning Sunday, September 16.

"Can Europe Hold Together?" by John F. Sinclair.

Where stands England, the great trading country? Where Germany, which could support 60,000,000 people as an industrial power and only 20,000,000 as an agricultural nation? Where are each of the fourteen other nations Mr. Sinclair visited to get the FACTS for this series? Where is America? And where the world and civilization?

Sinclair tells—with the UTMOST SIMPLICITY.

Carl H. Gets, in The Banker, New York, says: "He (Sinclair) is one of the few men in America who not only understands his subject but who makes everyone who reads his articles also understand."

President L. D. Coffman, of the University of Minnesota, wrote: "Your recent article on Europe is exceptionally clear. I consider it a real contribution to the subject."

H. D. Henderson, editor of the (London, Eng.) Nation, says: "Your article on the European war debts is the ablest I've read."

Europe told simply. It's like a story. "Can Europe Hold Together?"

Who's who and what's happened. Synopsis—Same as for chapter 73. CHAPTER LXXIV.

A Detective's Experiences.
Larry Gordon went down town with the two men, saying that he knew he could get the proof that was needed. Gloria heard him go, and wanted to run after him and beg him to stay with her; she felt very lonely, as if all her friends had deserted her. She kept telling herself that in time she would find out that he was just like Morton Phelps and Guy Richards and Frank Carver. She turned her face to the wall and wept, worn out with the strain of the events into which she had been whirled.

When she awoke and went out into the living room Mrs. Baker was having luncheon beside one of the windows that overlooked Fifth avenue; standing beside her Gloria looked down at the unending stream of traffic, wondering whether all the people in the passing cars and on the sidewalks were happy or not. In the old days she would not have given them a thought; if she herself was happy, that was all that was necessary. Mrs. Baker glanced at her shrewdly once or twice, and then began to talk, rather abruptly. But she caught Gloria's interest at once. "I often wonder why more women don't go in for the sort of work that I do," she remarked, filling her glass with ice cream. "It's very thrilling, as soon as I finish one case I begin

The finest grain foods known

Quaker Puffed Wheat is whole wheat puffed to airy globules, 8 times normal size. Each airy, flaky, flavory grain becomes a food confection.

It is made by Professor Anderson's process. Over 125 million steam explosions are caused in every kernel. Thus the food cells are broken for easy digestion. The elements are fitted to feed.

Every night feed children minerals,
vitamines, bran

Quaker Puffed Wheat in milk is the greatest dish mothers ever served. It means whole wheat and whole milk in their most enticing form.

Wheat supplies 12 minerals which growing children must have. Also the bran they need. Milk is rich in vitamins. These are elements you want your children to get daily and in plenty. Then make them tempting in this fascinating dish.

Airy, flaky, nut-like puffs

Quaker Puffed Rice is a food confection. No breakfast dainty ever served compares with its delights. Serve with cream and sugar. Mix in every dish of fruit. Crisp and douse with melted butter for hungry children afternoons. Nothing is so good for people as these whole grains puffed.

EXCLUSIVE OPTICAL SERVICE

Many patients pay for unsatisfactory glasses furnished by optical firms who claim to sell for a trifle less than the legitimate optical man. Glasses are like diamonds, they have a market value and when they are sold for less than the market value there is sure to be something wrong somewhere. The first thing you notice in Ballard's glasses is the comfortable feeling of your frame adjustments by the Ballard service which is not always found elsewhere. The second thing you notice is you have gotten rid of that nagging or tired feeling you often experience from glasses where there is some little something left out. We have thousands of patients all over the states who will vouch for this statement. Ask any of them.

It was more or less her fault that he turned from her to other women, when they'd been married a few years—having married him, she thought that she was sure of holding him, you see.

"She found that he was paying a good deal of attention to someone else, and engaged me to see if her suspicions about him and this other woman were correct. I got to know her quite well, and somehow, I didn't blame the man for trying to get away from her; she was so suspicious of him, so determined that he shouldn't have a friend on earth who meant anything to him, because he had her. She was one of these vicious red-headed women, jealous as she could be, and very stubborn.

"Well, I went to live in the little town where the other woman was spending the summer. I got well acquainted with her very soon and finally got a position as housekeeper for her. She was a widow with one child, a little boy, and had just about enough money to get along on. She seemed to like me—often when I'd be working around in the little kitchen she'd come out and sit on the high stool by the window, talking to me. The man only came down a few times while I was there, and then she was alone. She was very kind, and wouldn't let him do anything so flagrant that his wife would feel forced to get a divorce, because she thought he ought to stay.

"My sympathies were all with them, of course—I really cared for each other and I knew they'd be happy together. So I took that as my own shoulders. I went to the wife and told her that she was too young and attractive a woman to spend her life with a man who didn't appreciate her. She wasn't happy with him, and what she thought was love for her was really just a feeling of obligation. She was rather taken back by that, but as she really was a shallow thing with no real affection for anyone but herself, she came round to that opinion with a little more persuasion. She suggested that she divorce him, and begin her life over again as a charming widow—she swallowed even the 'charming'.

"Of course, if she really loved her husband she wouldn't have accepted my suggestion so readily. She had a summer home in Connecticut, where the divorce laws are easier than in New York, and she got divorce at once. Her husband married the lovely little widow—and to everyone's astonishment—including her own. I think—his wife married again, shortly afterward. So you see, I combine other things with my profession as detective."

"How perfectly thrilling!" Gloria exclaimed.

She was thinking of Virginia and Morton Phelps—their marriage was similar to the one in Gloria Baker's story—how it was turning out by this time? She had heard nothing from Virginia in several weeks, and did not know whether she was still on Long Island and had gone elsewhere. Virginia had always seemed to think that if you were unhappy a change of location could make you happy again—she had traveled widely with that belief urging her on, and of course had always been disappointed. Being fond of Virginia was rather an uphill business—her high handed attitude toward life made it difficult. Gloria wondered if Morton Phelps had worked out a solution of the problem—surely he had, for he was easier for him to do so than for other people to, when Virginia cared so much for him.

Model for Pictures Of Christ on Visit To His Former Home

A self-styled "tramp printer" who looks so like the artist's conception of Jesus that he makes a living posing as an artist's model.

That's Benjamin R. Johnston, cosmopolitan, globe trotter and a former employee of The Constitution's composing department, who is here for a short stay and who visited The Constitution building Monday.

Mr. Johnston began posing for sacred pictures about ten years ago when an art student noticed the resemblance of the lines of his face to those of the Christ. On the advice of the student, Mr. Johnston shaved his hair long and cultivated a beard. The result is that he has broadened the scope of his work, and in addition to posing as Christ he appears in many photographs he displayed in the roles of Moses, Shylock, the money changer, an Arab sheik, Dr. Faustus and others. He enjoys his make-up in his poses, and makes his character changes with only a few deft changes of hair, beard and Oriental drapings.

Mr. Johnston worked as a printer in the composing department of The Constitution twelve years ago. For three years he was a joint operator of the Newnan News, and at one time he was employed by the Foote and Davies company here.

His work has carried him into almost every civilized land, and he has twice circled the globe. So startling is his normal appearance to that of King Benjamin, the missing "Seventh Angel" of the "House of David" that he has been detained on several occasions in connection with the Shiloh scandal.

Mr. Johnston leaves Atlanta in a day or so for Birmingham and New Orleans, in the latter city being scheduled to pose before a well-known southern art institute.

JEWS OF ATLANTA ARE CELEBRATING ROSH HASHONAH

Rosh Hashonah, the Hebrew new year, was begun at 8 o'clock Monday night at the Jewish temple on South Pryor street, with Rosh Hashonah services. The observance of the day is one of the two major celebrations on the Jewish calendar, and will continue today. Special services will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Sunday auditorium. Junior service will be held at 11 o'clock.

The second Jewish observance will be Yom Kippur, the Day of the Atonement, and will be celebrated Wednesday and Thursday, September 19 and 20. Services on this occasion begin at 8 o'clock Wednesday night and again at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, lasting throughout the day. A special junior service will be held at 11 o'clock. Special music will be offered at all the celebrations.

Orthodox Jews all over the world observe both new year and the Day of the Atonement.

SCHOOLS JAMMED ON OPENING DAY

With practically every school building in the entire city of Atlanta filled to capacity on opening day, despite the fact that the full enrollment of 46,000 had not reported, indications Monday were that the attendance roundup slated to begin Wednesday, would have to be postponed a week or more in order to make arrangements to seat the additional thousands it is expected to enroll under terms of the state law.

Every new school with the exception of the three junior highs and the Storr-Houston colored replacement, threw open its doors and was jammed with the surging young humanity.

Headquarters Packed.
All day long headquarters of the schools department on the fourth and fifth floors of the city hall were packed with late coming registrants who will swell the total of 46,000 enrollment by several hundred. Atlanta's school population is 52,000.

In all the schools the throngs of youngsters were handled with good order and expedition. All have been assigned to seats except in a few of the colored schools where triple sessions will have to be continued and where a great deal of congestion resulted during the first day as a result of having more than twice as many children applying for seats as there are seats to accommodate them.

Superintendent Willis A. Sutton and the other administrative heads assigned and where a great deal of congestion resulted during the first day as a result of having more than twice as many children applying for seats as there are seats to accommodate them.

Superintendent Sutton stated Monday night that it would not have been possible to seat all the children through the seventh grade in the grammar and elementary school buildings.

Well Proven Life Saver.
"The junior high schools will prove a life-saver for our school system," he asserted. "They will also give the children in the lower grades an education here, and not send them to other schools close to their homes."

Mr. Sutton who made a tour of inspection of all the schools, asserted Monday night that the new system, inaugurated this year with approval of the Strayer-Engelhart surveyors, will work with utmost satisfaction here. It is a "K-6-3-3" system, including thirteen grades and the symbols mean kindergarten, six years elementary school, three years junior high school, and three years high school. The old system was known as the "7-4" system, including seven elementary grades and four high school grades.

The board of education Tuesday afternoon will decide definitely on the number of kindergartens to be opened this term, on the Christian council's plan to establish religious instruction separate from the schools but to be given during school hours, and on Superintendent Sutton's plan to use the present senior high school building in the afternoon for the pupils who will attend the three uncompleted junior high schools until these buildings are ready for occupancy. More than 3,000 pupils in the seventh grade did not go to school Monday morning but are awaiting for some arrangement to be made for their instruction.

The law requires all children between 8 and 15 years of age to be in school by Wednesday, but the board may also be asked Tuesday to authorize the attendance department to defer active work of enforcement for a few days. Four attendance officers, instead of one as last year, will see that the law is enforced.

CENTRAL SUNDAY SCHOOL IS GIVEN $60,000 FOR ANNEX

A gift of $60,000 was made Sunday by Mrs. M. V. Egan, of 44 Oakdale road, for the building of the Central Presbyterian church's new Sunday school annex. Dr. Ben R. Lacy, who made the announcement of the gift, stated that work on the annex would begin at once. Mrs. Egan said the gift was a memorial to her brother, William A. Russell.

A lot for the annex, costing $25,000, was given to the Sunday school by J. Bulow Campbell, president of the R. O. Campbell-Cook company, several months ago in memory of his

Homely Wisdom by President Coolidge's Mentor Bench Philosophy

By James Lucey, the Northampton Shoemaker
The Hans Sachs of New England

James Lucey, Northampton shoemaker and mentor of President Coolidge.

My Dear Mr. Lucey: Not often do I see you or write you, but if it were not for you I would not be here, and I want to tell you how much I love you. Do not work too hard. Try to enjoy yourself in your well deserved leisure time.

Yours sincerely,
CALVIN COOLIDGE.

That Straight and Narrow Edge Called "Job."

Once you start a job that's worth doing, you've got to stick to it until it's done, or you're goin' to get into trouble.

"Take stitchin' backstays. When I sit down at my stitchin' machine and start to do a backstay, I can't stop 'till the job is finished. If anyone bothers me I may run off the edge, and then no matter how far I've gone, I have to pull out every stitch and start again, or it wouldn't be a good job. I just have to keep on at that narrow edge and let everything else on earth go until that job is done."

I remember one day I was sittin' at my machine near the door, sewing a backstay that was closed, for it was a messy, sloppy, dismal day outside. All at once the door opened and I could feel the wind blowing in. There I sort of felt someone standing at my side, but I paid no attention and kept my eye on that backstay.

are seated by Wednesday. All children who are not seated by Wednesday, excepting those of the three new junior high schools, will forfeit their rights to the particular seat which has been reserved for them. In case of illness or other providential reasons, these should be reported promptly to the principal of the school. Children who have already been assigned seats, or who through carelessness do not report before Wednesday, may be forced to go to other schools than the one nearest home."

Singers Will Meet.

Juliette, Ga., September 10.—(Special.)—The fourth annual convention of the County Music association will be held next Friday and Saturday at the East Thomaston Baptist church. An extensive program has been arranged and many of the best singers of the state will attend.

YOUNG PEOPLE ATTEND BIG REVIVAL TONIGHT

"Moonshine liquor will make a church member just as drunk as it makes a sinner on the outside," declared Evangelist Walt Holcomb at Wesley Memorial church Monday evening in his sermon on "What is the matter with the church?" "There is no difference between a fellow sinning on the inside of the church, and a fellow sinning on the outside of the church."

In the course of his eloquent sermon, he emphasized the point that there is nothing wrong with the church as an institution, but that there is something wrong with a lot of people whose names are on the church roll.

"The church and Christ are one," he said. "You cannot hit the church without hitting the heart of Jesus Christ. The voice of the church is the only one that calls to honesty, decency and purity in the world today. Let people know that joining Christ means joining the church. They are not safe on the outside."

The attendance Monday evening was excellent. The singing, led by a large chorus choir with accompaniment by the pipe organ and two pianos, was inspiring.

Dr. S. R. Beck, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, paid Walt Holcomb a high tribute. He said that Trinity church is still feeling the wonderful effect of a week's series of meetings held there by Holcomb.

Tuesday night's service will be particularly for young people. A large attendance of members of the Epworth league, the Christian endeavor, and the Baptist Young People's union, is expected.

Best Home Treatment For All Hairy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)
Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone and mix fresh.—(adv.)

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads, I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

912 Biscuits from One Bag of Flour

Here is real economy—a 24-pound bag of MERRY WIDOW FLOUR makes more than 900 biscuits. They are regular size biscuits too—2 1/4 inches in diameter and about one inch thick.

MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour contains just the right amount of pure ingredients, so that you can make delicious biscuits almost as easily and quickly as you can slice bread. All you have to do is add milk or cold water and shortening, then bake.

MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour is made by the Ford Flour Company, millers since 1895, the originators of self-rising flour. In spite of the many imitations, it is holding its old friends and making new ones every day. Here's the proof—over 600,000 more bags of MERRY WIDOW were used in 1922 than in 1920. Try it. You will never change. Ask for it by name.

automobile manufacturing organizations in the world. medium priced motor cars under the well-known "Willys-Knight." Since January 1, 1913, more than 100,000 cars have been manufactured and sold in this country and abroad. The production records in the company's history were exceeded, during that period. The output of Willys-Knight cars, which began in the first eight months of 1923, was more than six times as much as the output of approximately 1 3-4 times the output of such cars in 1922.

sufficient to retire $1,000,000 principal amount of 1924.

Other bank loans nor funded indebtedness, and the using the company's working capital, consistent with the plan will place the company in an exceptionally liquid position.

On June 30, 1912, after deducting charges for depreciation on the plant, the company had accumulated more than 6 1-3 times the maximum annual interest on the bonds. For the year ended July 31, 1923, such net income was $10,154,441.

The mortgage will provide for an annual sinking fund sufficient to retire $1,000,000 principal amount of these bonds in each year, beginning with the year 1924.

Immediately prior to this financing the company has neither bank loans nor funded indebtedness, and the entire proceeds of these bonds will be devoted to increasing the company's working capital, consistent with its largely expanded volume of business. This financing will place the company in an exceptionally liquid condition.

The average annual net income of the company since June 30, 1912, after deducting charges for depreciation and all inventory adjustments, was over $4,173,000 or more than 6 1-3 times the maximum annual interest requirements on these bonds. For the seven months ended July 31, 1923, such net income was $10,154,441

Upon completion of this financing, net tangible assets will be more than 5 1/2 times the amount of this issue of bonds. Current assets will be in excess of 3 1/2 times current liabilities, and net current assets, alone, will exceed 3 times the amount of these bonds.

We offer these bonds, if, as, and when issued and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by our counsel. It is anticipated that delivery of temporary bonds or interim receipts will be made on or about September 20, 1923.
